BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

Captain H. C. Coe returned, Sunday, from the Sound.

Mr. W. B. Cole, of Felda, was here on business Tuesday.

Mr. Frank Button left for a visit to Astoria yesterday.

Mrs. Hunt left for Spokane Falls Saturday to join her husband.

Mrs. A. H. Hope, of the Cascade Mills, visited friends here Tuesday.

Mr. S. E. Fisher, mate of the steamer Wasco, returned from Portland, Monday.

G. T. Prather will receive two crates of melons from California next Wednesday.

Mr. Shoemaker will bring his family here from Pendleton next week and will locate here.

Mr. Alexander Hamilton brought down several horses from The Dalles Wednesday.

George Prather will have a big stock of groceries next week, they being now on the way.

Tuesday was the hottest day of the year, the thermometer marking 93 degrees in the shade.

Hood River has among its good citizens a Cone and a Coon, a Button and a Bone, and a Henn and a Crowe.

Mr. L. Evans returned from Trout Lake Wednesday, and reports fish and campers both in abundance there.

Mr. R. Rand will in the near future open a hardware store in the building now occupied by C. R. Bone as an office.

John H. Woodrum representing MacCondray & Co., of San Francisco was here Monday in the interests of that firm.

Mr. M. W. Pealer was kicked in the forehead by a colt, Thursday morning, and though the colt got first blood, the wound is not serious.

Hon. E. L. Smith has been in Portland during the week attending the grand lodge of the A. O. U. W. He is expected home today.

It is rumored that a grand picnic will be held here about the first of August, but we have been unable to learn anything definite about it.

George Mathias will soon open a paint shop on Oak street, and will carry a full line of paints, oils, turpentine brushes and other painters' materials.

Geo. Hamilton sold his place, situated about five miles southeast of town, to a gentleman from Pendleton Thursday, but we failed to learn the price.

Mr. Hans Lage has bought Mr. Pealer's interest in the threshing machine, and having finished harvesting, it is probable the machine will do its first work, for him.

Mr. Samuel Clark sold his place Thursday to Mr. Frank Button. It is the old Benson ranch adjoining the town on the east, and contains 153 acres. The price paid was $4500.

Mr. John Daly, our school teacher, and Mr. R. S. Andrews, another knight of the birch, are off for a two weeks' outing at Lost Lake and the cool streams and shady groves of the west fork.

Mr. F. R. Absten will have about a ton of splendid blackberries. They are just beginning to ripen, and George Prather has bought the whole lot, paying seven cents a pound therefor.

The Columbia Sunday school children had a picnic at Coe's spring Thursday evening. There was a big crowd of them, and to say that they had a good time, does not half express the fun they had.

Mr. McIrvine and family, on their way home from this place, July 1st, met with an accident that, fortunately, is not very serious. When near the home one of the tugs became loose, and it is let the neck yoke slip off the ground, and the horses dropped to earth and fell. The horses became unmanageable and upset the wagon. Mrs. McIrvine was thrown out, but held on to which was not hurt, but her head came in contact with a boulder receiving therefrom a severe cut. The injured lady was in town, Tuesday, to have her wounds cared for.

H. W. Brice's bridge gang have been here for about six weeks, looking after and repairing bridges and trestles. They went to Moister, Wednesday, and will make that their headquarters for a short time.

C. R. Bone went out to Trout Lake with Mr. Patten, of Dayton, W. T., during the week. Owing to the temporary disability of the ferry boat, he procured a team on the other side of the river for the trip.

Mr. Edward Underwood presented us a couple of apples yesterday raised on his place across the river. They were very large and of fine flavor. The name escaped us but the apples did not by a long ways.

Rand's barn is about completed, the shingles being about all on, and all that remains to do is to give it another coat of paint. It is a neat and substantial building and will be able to accommodate twenty animals.

Rev. F. H. Balch will preach at the Congregational church tomorrow, Sunday, at 11:30 o'clock A. M. This will be his last sermon here, as he will leave on Monday next for Oakland, Cal., where he will attend the Theological Seminary for a year.

Mr. M. W. Pealer and family left yesterday for North Yakima where they expect to remain permanently, but as Mr. Pealer is pre-eminently a bird of passage, we much doubt their remaining in that sage brush section, especially after having lived here.

Professor T. L. Donahoe, who has been teaching school in the valley for the past year, has gone to his old home Hickory Hill, Ill., for what purpose we know not, though rumor has it, that there is a woman in the case, who soon will be Mrs. Donahoe.

The ferry-boat has received some needed alterations and, new sails, and was pronounced ready for use Thursday. We think, however, before she is a complete success, that another bottom will have to be nailed on her; and her bows given a little sharper angle.

Mr. C. E. Dunham and family came down from The Dalles, Wednesday and went out to their place three miles below town. The family will remain during the summer, but Mr. Dunham returned to The Dalles Thursday to look after his business.

Rev. C. Clapp, of Oakland, Cal., the superintendent of Oregon Congregational missions, came up from Portland, Saturday, and preached at the Congregational church, Sunday, at 11 o'clock A. M. The object of his visit was to provide another pastor to take the place of Rev. F. H. Balch, resigned.

Master Erskine, the nine-year-old son of Col. C. E. S. Wood, came up from Portland Wednesday with Mr. Middleton and went out to the hotel. He is armed and equipped, and expresses himself ready to tackle anything from a pheasant to a full grown grizzly.

The picnic at Glenwood, W. T., was a very pleasant affair. The Declaration of Independence was read by J. O. Shaw, and the oration was delivered by Hon. W. R. Dunbar, who is a remarkably pleasant and interesting speaker. There was dancing in the afternoon and evening. The attendance was good, at least three hundred being present.

Communicated.

HOOD RIVER, OR., July 8, 1888.

Editor HOOD RIVER GLACIER: A 4-year old daughter, in conversation with her mother, inquired if "God sees us and everything," and being answered in the affirmative, she put the following question, viz.: "What is the other man's name?" The mother making no reply the child made answer, "I know; Devil."

Dyer's dog Lion is dead. His faithful spirit passed out of the form on the 30th ult., having passed his 16th annual mile stone. His life had been active and useful and full of peril, having participated in many a bear and panther fight, and on one occasion saved the life of Mr. Dyer who was attacked by a ferocious panther.

Mr. John Buskirk and his 8-year-old son fished for trout on the 4th inst. in the crystal waters of the West Fork of Hood river, and after an hour's fishing the son had 16 and the father 17 fine ones. Mr. Buskirk has timothy grass growing on his ranch measuring 4 feet 9 inches in height, second year from seed. He lives on the West Fork 3 miles above Union falls.

Recently a rattlesnake in attempting to cross the iron rail, a short distance below the depot, was stepped on by the iron horse, and had his head pinched off.

A young lady of four summers, on seeing a large knot on the trunk of an oak tree exclaimed, "Oh, mamma! there's a tree with a huckle on it."

The picnic held at the falls of Hood river on the Fourth of July, on Winan's ranch, was very enjoyable. We were surprised to see so large a gathering in that wild, romantic region. Every heart seemed filled with joy and gladness, all expressing a desire to enjoy another gathering of the kind at the same place. Parties who had never cast a hook before, were wonderfully surprised at their success in angling. Fried trout was a prominent feature among the luxuries that adorned the bountiful tables which were arranged in the midst of a beautiful, clean and cool maple grove.

I WANT TO LET YOU KNOW.
